BOULDER HIGH

1964-1965

7-25-1965

a day to remember

7-28

1964-1965 . . . A year of newness and change . . . of time steadily passing . . . of clock hands endlessly making circles on the face of a clock. . . .

As sophomores, juniors and seniors, the school year of 1964-1965 has brought not only change in the physical structure of the school building, creating a modern study atmosphere, but also new ideas, new experiences and new challenges.

The friends made, the courses taken, the athletic contests attended, the musical and dramatic productions performed, all have made Boulder High, 1964-1965 a step on the ladder of maturity, a step never to be returned to. The goal is always ahead. And if the step was weak, climb up with hope for the future. If it was firm, go forward with confidence.

Ten representatives were sent to Boys' and Girls' State for the summer of 1964. The three girls who attended were Kitty Paddock, Linda Redus, and Janet Rusheon. The boys who represented Boulder High School were Richard Best, Don Hovde, Jack Ott, Arlen Stokes, Knox Wasley, Larry Wilson and Tom Wolzien. The alternates were Iris Connolly, Jill Coppom, Ann Willyard, Bob Dugan, David Jacobson, Bob Kane, Bill Laterman, Alex Pasquariello, Harlan Shannon and Curt Stocker.

Sitting: Claude Souders, Andy Anderson, Lee Nibel. Standing: Duane Miller, Jess Parsons, George Zigler, Merle Giles.

Boulder High's custodians have a bigger job starting this year since the new addition was opened. The staff will be enlarged next year by at least one more custodian.

These men and all the work they do are a very important part of the school life. As we leave the building every day these men come to work. By midnight they have completed their task and all is ready for the students and teachers for another day. When we stop and think how many favors are done for us by our custodians each day . . . Will you open this door . . . Have you seen a black coat in the auditorium . . . I lost my contact in the sink, can you get it out, we just say thank you.

SENIOR CLASS LED BY WILLYARD, BUSH, LANTERMAN

President, Ron Bush, treasurer, Ann Willyard, vice-president, Bill Lanterman.

Beginning with the Senior Fry, the Senior Class stepped into its final year in its high school career. They planned the St. Nick's Day Program and following it, hosted a Christmas tea for Alumni, faculty, and Seniors. In May the Senior Class officers supervised the election of the Junior-Senior Prom Queen and with the Juniors, planned the Junior-Senior Prom.

The final highlight of the year were the Senior

Week activities, which included the Senior Breakfast, Class Day exercises at which the graduating seniors and their parents were honored, and graduation.

The Senior Class is indebted to its officers and sponsors; Mr. Hamilton, Mrs. Fraker, Dr. McCammon, Mr. Geiger, Mrs. Beavers, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Beasley, Mr. Schneider, and Mrs. Hoffman, for a highly successful year—1964-65—a year they will never forget.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

DeDe Young and her escort, Tom Pender are driven around the track of Prep Field before the introduction of the Homecoming Queen candidates.

Boulder High School's traditional three day homecoming celebration began Thursday evening when Coach Wilson lit the huge bonfire adjacent to the newly constructed tennis courts. Students, led by the cheerleaders, exhibited enthusiastic school spirit for the following night's game with Cherry Creek and the rally was then followed by an outdoor dance held on the new courts.

The next evening the Boulder Panthers defeated the Bruins 32-0. Half-time activities featured entertainment by the marching band of Boulder High, the Stepperettes and was climaxed by the presentation of the Homecoming Queen candidates and their escorts. DeDe Young was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1964 by Boulder High's head boy, Don Hovde, and on the following evening of October 10, she and her attendants reigned over the Homecoming Dance, "Deep Purple."

Silhouetted by the blazing homecoming fire, senior varsity cheerleaders conduct a pep rally for the homecoming game the next evening.

This year Boulder High was very fortunate to have nineteen foreign students in attendance. They provided a valuable and exciting experience for other BHS students as they brought their cultures and ideas to the school.

Ten students from Toluca, Mexico came to Boulder High participating in the third annual Tolucan student exchange. Under this program the Mexican students attend classes here during the winter and in turn Boulder sends students to study at the University of Toluca for the summer. Studing here were Flor de Maria Olvera, Antonio Huitron-Vera, Patricia Echeverri, Maria Elena Franco, Sylvia Gonzalez, Norma Gonzalez, Yolando Veraquez, Lolita Lino, Teri Lopez, and Lucia Echeverri.

This year's American Field Service exchange student was Marilou Orbeso. She came from the Phillipines and stayed with the family of Jeanne Dulaigh.

Two old friends, Alonzo Mendosa and Alba Flores, both from Chihauhau, Mexico, were here again this year. Alonzo spent his third, Alba the second year at Boulder High. Arne Ludvigsen of Norway, and Tienchai Mahasirik of Thailand also attended BHS for their second years.

Other foreign students were Everker Holmberg from Sweden, Mauno Feanot of Finland, Charles Spinney from New Brunswick, Canada, and Prudencia Daniels who came from Panama.

Hopefully a better understanding with other foreign countries, their ideas and customs has resulted from the presence of these nineteen foreign emissaries attending classes at Boulder High this year.

Volume 51

Boulder, Colorado, June, 1965

Special Edition to the ODAROLOC

'New' Year for Owlies

During the 1964-65 school year, Boulder high school seemed to be a school of new faces, new practices and a "new look."

New faces?—This year's sophomore class alone approached 600. New practices?—Who will ever forget math class in "good ole' Central?" And, new look?—Indeed, there was a new look to all of Boulder High, all of the school, that is, except the OWL room.

A new teacher was all the high school's "journalism department" received. Miss Susan E. Sayre served as journalism instructor and OWL advisor during the year, bringing, perhaps a bit of joy, much chagrin, and a new idea or two.

She joined aspiring journalists, big and small, and a gig-

Davies and Iris Connolly; news editors Iris Connolly, Anne Sandoe, David Graham and Cassie Nelson; and feature editors Shari Brown, Nanci Quiggle, Monica Hoffman and Marc Schipper.

Sports editors Steve Clark, Ron McGuckin, Bob Dugan and J. T. Garcia, and advertising managers Ann Willyard and Cici Gold.

When the first semester passed on (as all first semesters do), a group of worthy, young cub reporters joined the staff. Added to the ranks of the Owlies everywhere were Sally Aspinwall, Paula Bernthal, Mary Helen Carroll, Kipp Downing, Janet Groft, Mary Hale, Frank Lister, Jack Ott, Stephanie Sears, Gary Warner and Anne Zier.

The OWL staff ended the year, as always, with fond memories, aspirations for the future and visions—of some new linoleum tops, maybe, some new paint for the room, perhaps, and, above all, the hope that their newspaper could continue to be the "Best Ever!"

OWL Editor Tom Wolzien

Editor Unique

Not since 1955-56 has there been anything but female OWL editors. So for almost a decade there have been dainty, sweet girls atop the high stool in room 254—all of which seems to make Tom Wolzien something unique among OWL editors.

He is a boy; he was the OWL editor. And, during the 1964-65 school year, Wolzien led his staff through all manner of activities, not the least of which included weekly publication of the high school newspaper, sponsorship of the gala, all-school talent exhibition, Vodvil, and numerous other projects.

A whole gob of "kudos" is in order to Wolzien—truly unique among OWL editors.

Miss Susan Sayre
OWL Adviser

gling gaggle of Owlies. Chief of all Owls, Tom Wolzien, was joined at various times by assistant editors, Cassie Nelson, Joyce Hansen, Mary Jane Favorable comments are still being heard, even today, regarding the inclusion of a literary section in three issues of the OWL during the past year.

In an unprecedented action, the members of the OWL staff voted to include the sections and then, they accomplished all of the page layouts and arranging of the various works.

Members of Boulder High's English department who first came up with the idea of a literary supplement to the newspaper were instrumental in encouraging students to submit their creative works to the staff for inclusion in the sections.

AIR OF SPIRIT AND ENTHUSIASM

One of the largest and busiest Boulder High organizations is the Pep Club.

This year the Cubs followed tradition by attending all games, having pot-luck suppers in connection with some of the athletic events, making posters and banners, and helping with the B-Club candy sale.

In the fall an initiation took place for the sophomore members, the annual Cub Dance was sponsored at mid year and the Cub recognition banquet was held in May.

Adding to these traditions, under the initiation and leadership of Ginny Vielehr were a senior honorary program, and a new merit system with the use of punch cards. In a busy and prosperous year, the Cubs successfully achieved their purpose of raising high school spirits for athletic events.

POM-PONERS, VARSITY, JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS, SPARK PANTHER ENTHUSIASM FOR TEAM VICTORIES

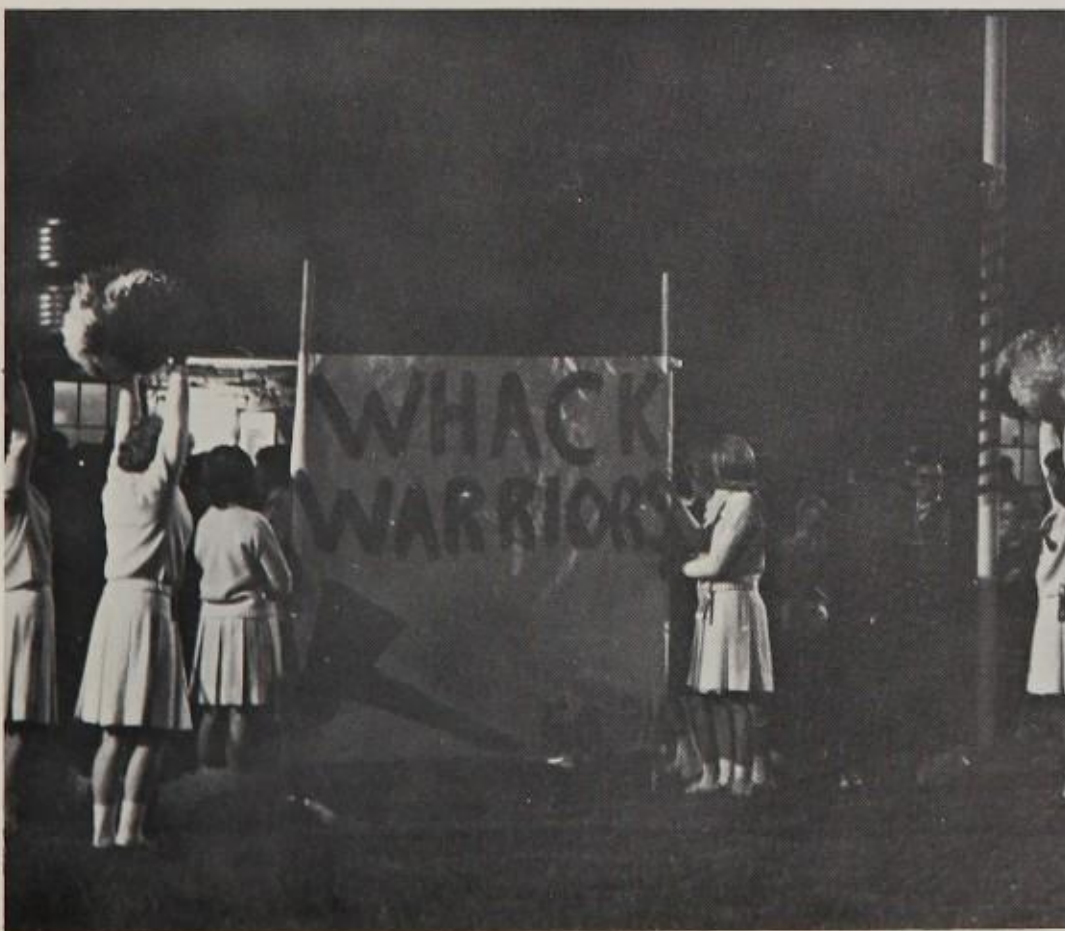

The pom-pon girls, junior, and senior varsity cheerleaders for 1964-'65 have maintained the high standard of excellence which has been established throughout previous years.

Due to a change in last year's constitution, six varsity cheerleaders were elected instead of four. Head cheerleader Jill Coppom, Barbi Mack, and Sue Preston, all of whom were junior varsity cheerleaders, were joined this year by Alice Bayne, Cid Fightlin, and Kathy Stiles. All were elected by the student body in May of their junior year.

At the same time the four junior varsity cheerleaders were elected. This year they were Nicci Edwards, Dianna Elliot, Sharon Moate, and head JV, Priscilla Bowdy. Their duties included assisting the varsity cheerleaders and leading cheers for the B and C squad games.

The pom-pon girls were elected by the members of pep club. They were Sally Aspinwall, Susie Bennett, Mary Jane Davies, Pam Penfold, Ellen Craven, Nancy Hutchinson, Linda Redus and Ann Tooker as alternate. They added much to games and rallies by keeping time to the cheers with their colorful shakers and by participating in halftime activities.

The outstanding performances given by all three groups was the result of many hours of practice and through their efforts school spirit was raised.

Senior Quarterback Knox Wasley gets off a pass . . .

This, the year of formation of the Centennial League, found the Panthers battling into second place. Defense was the key as Boulder scored 191 points to 39 points for the opponents in league play. Many records were set last year, both offensive and defensive. The Panthers comprised an 8-2 overall record falling only to the conference champs and the eventual state champs.

Senior Ron McGuckin goes around end for yards against Longmont.

Paul Boland took the number one singles honors, Barry Gray the number two singles and the doubles team of Lanterman-Cooper placed fourth in their division. Overall, the team showed a good season.

Junior Jay Cooper saves the point as doubles teammate Lanterman stands by.

BASKETBALL TEAM HAS STRONG SEASON

Gary Sibigtroth (33) led this year's cage team as captain, had the highest point average, and was voted the team's most valuable player.

A fast start helped the Panthers come very close to gaining the league title. The team was in first place much of the season and still had a chance for the title until Littleton downed them. Guards Gary Sibigtroth, a senior, and Bob Anderson, a junior, were named to the All-Conference team, and seniors Steve Clark, Dick Clark, and Bud Walker were given honorable mention.

Starting it all off center Steve Clark (43) tips the ball to Bob Anderson (53).

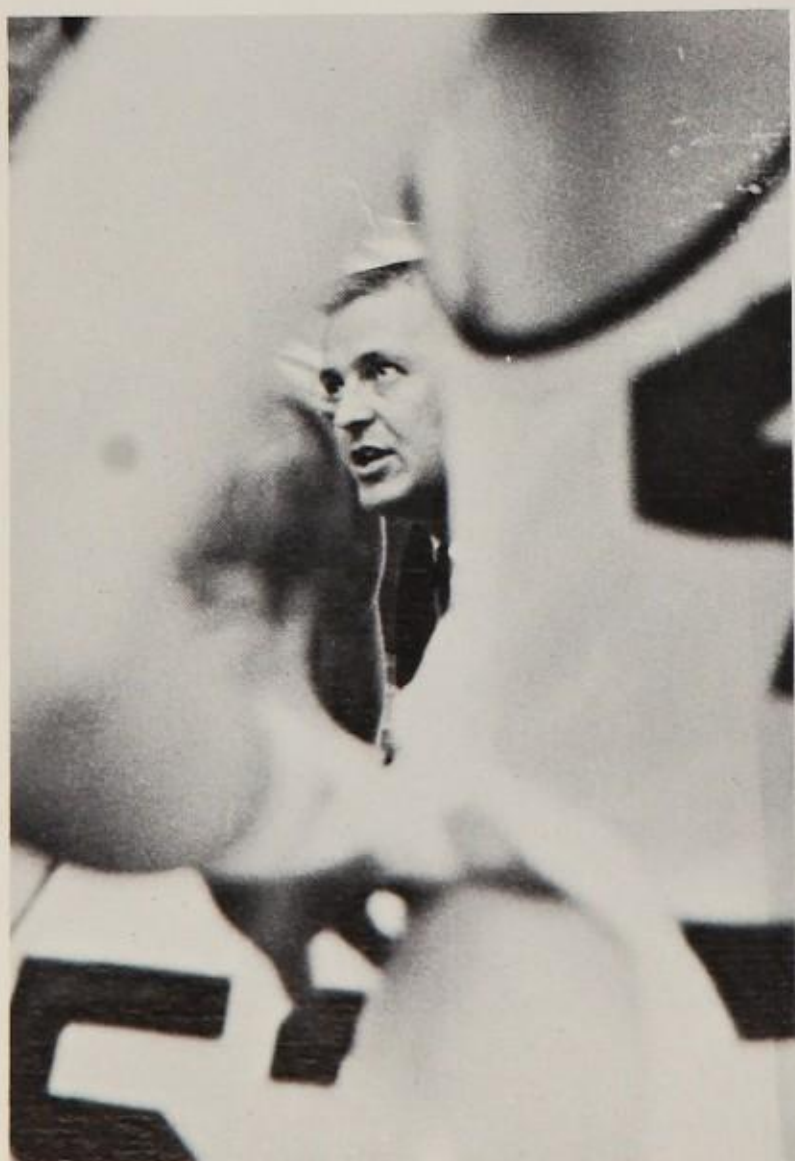

Senior Knox Wasley (25) was termed a defensive standout all year by Coach Furman. Here he goes after a loose ball in the Cheyenne game as Gary Sibigtroth (33) and Dick Clark (54) come in to help.

The Junior Varsity under Coach Gene Sparks set high hopes for next year as they compiled an 11-7 record. Juniors Terry Sadler and Phil Irwin also came through as reserves for the Varsity. Head Coach Furman was very pleased with the way Coach Sparks handled the team and the way they played ball.

SOPHOMORES THIRD IN TOURNEY

The Sophomores under Coach Rod Antilla had an excellent season with a 10-4 record. In the Aurora Sophomore Invitational Tourney they placed third losing only to Englewood, and showing a very lopsided win over Arapahoe. The sophomores gained much needed experience and should be an asset to the Varsity next year.

Coach Earl Cummings, Mike Huvle, John Geandreau, Darrel Norris, Kendell Lingham, Andu Morris, Mide Bristow, Bill Engleman.

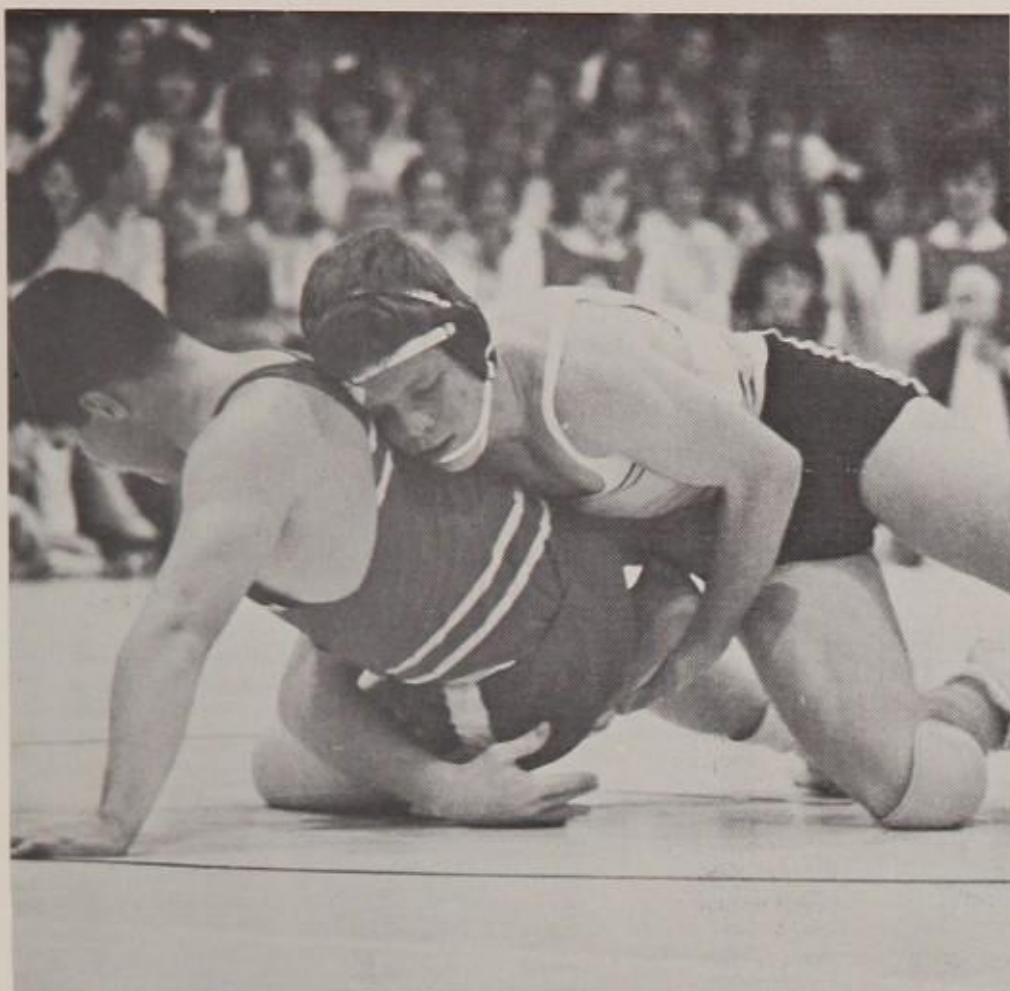

Boulder High's Wrestling team compiled an outstanding dual meet record for the 1964-65 season by winning 13 meets and losing only 3. The team won all its conference meets to win the Centennial League Championship with a 6-0 record. This is reported to be the school's first conference championship in wrestling. In addition, the Boulder High team members were hosts to the Japanese National Champions and wrestled before 4500 fans at the University of Colorado Fieldhouse. This was the largest crowd ever to watch a dual meet in the state of Colorado.

The Boulder High team was led by six outstanding seniors: Gil Espinoza, last year's state champion at 95 lbs., had a 15-0 won lost record in dual meet competition this year; Conard Metcalf's 15-1 record was blemished only by a defeat at the hands of a member of the Japanese team; Dave Wergin 11-4; John Geandreau 9-1-3 (ties); Gary Pine 7-4-1; and Lew Dukes 7-4-1; helped to strengthen this very fine wrestling team. Junior wrestlers Ron Lukenvach 11-2-2, Scott Patten 15-1, and Bob Keatley 6-5-1 are already poised to go into action again next year.

Carl Sharpard was one of the "B" team stand-outs, remaining undefeated through the season. Here Carl is breaking down one of his opponents.

TRACK HAS LARGE, ENTHUSIASTIC SQUAD

Head Coach Ed Swinscoe, although having lost some very vital men through graduation, especially Warren Gillette, should still have a good team with ten returning lettermen and a squad of sixty-five participants.

"We should do all right this year although the loss of Gillette is bound to hurt us," said Swinscoe.

Coach Phil Cohen, who lost key men last year during graduation exercises, should still field an experienced team with seven lettermen returning. According to Cohen, "The number of lettermen will be one of our strongest points. Pitching should also be strong with several non-lettering juniors and seniors playing for the pitching positions."

The pitchers will be led by lettermen Ingel and Carlxon. The rest of Cohen's preliminary lineup should go something like this: catcher, Anderson; first base, Dick Wilshimer or Paul Clemens; second base, Etter or Rich Sato; shortstop, Hyder who will have to fill in for graduated Larry Nelson; third base, Wasley, Bob Keatley, or sophomore Tom Guthrie; outfield, McDowell, Bud Walker, Steve Haskins or possibly Engel.

GYMNASTICS TEAM

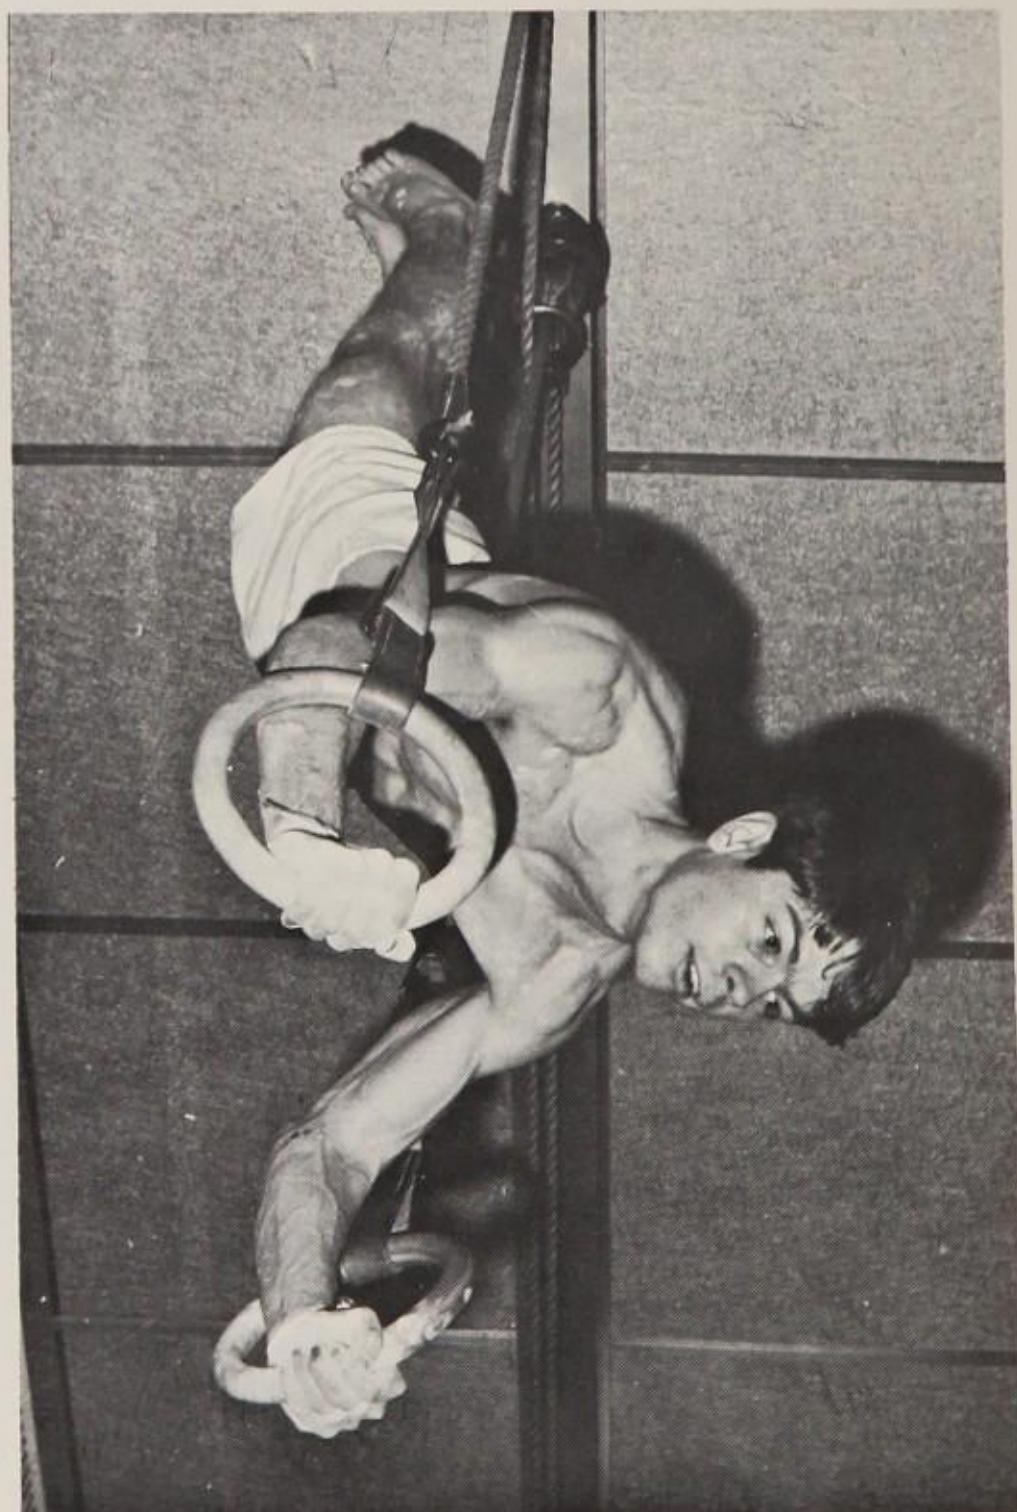

With the addition of the new balcony in the boys' gym, the long-awaited gymnastics team became a reality. Though functioning mainly as an intramural program this year, the after-school workouts gave valuable experience to prepare the gymnasts for inter-scholastic competition next season. Coach Scott McDuffy's charges gave exhibitions and picked up fine points in joint workouts with Fairview's state champion gym team in readying for a full Centennial League schedule next year.

The newly-organized gymnastics teams works out after school on the gym balcony.

John Hutton, Bruce Menk, Jim Martin, John Winstead, George Hoge, J. T. Garcia, Coach Wally Schneider.

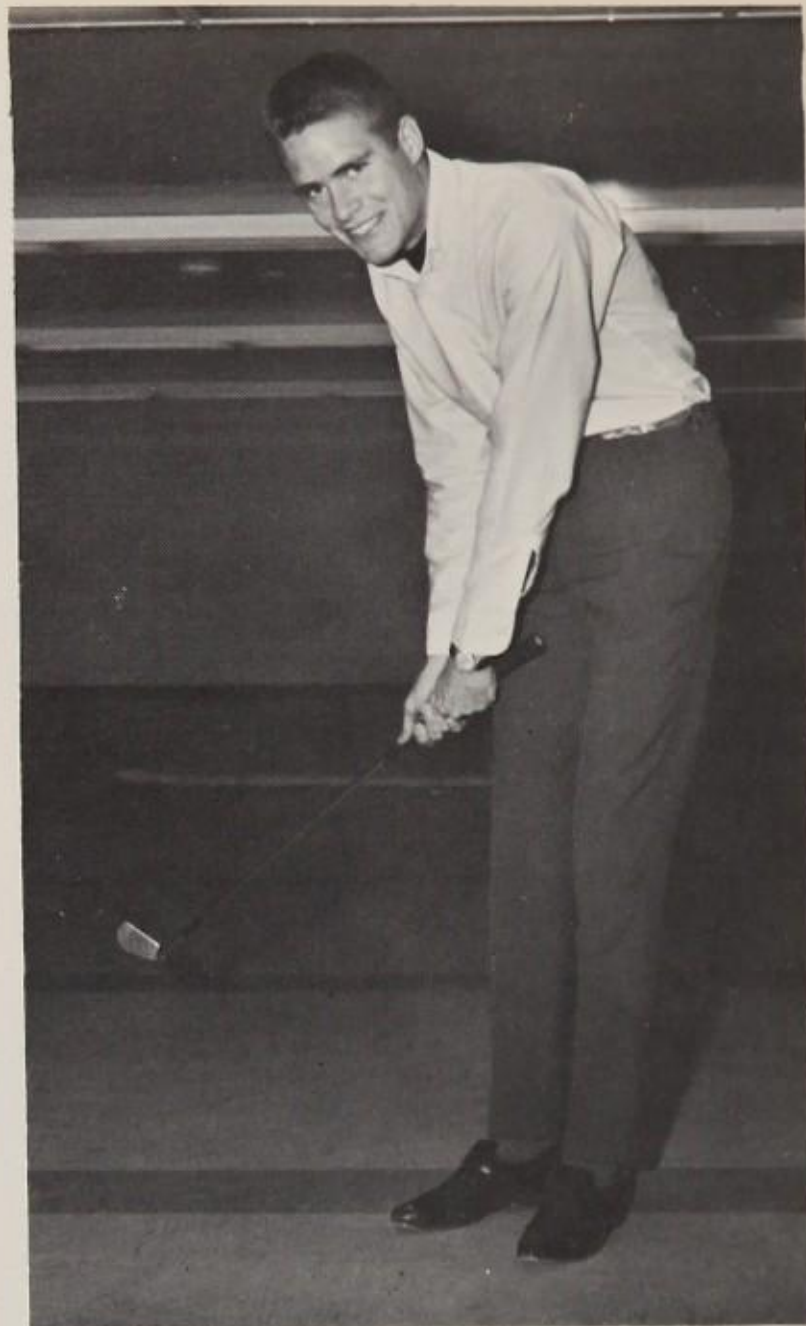

Coach Wallace Schneider will have three junior lettermen back in Bill Herbstreit, Kipp Downing and John Hutton and senior transfer-lettermen John Winstead, but replacing the number one player of last year, Dick Anderson, may be a major problem.

Hutton should have the best chance at number one this year as he played in the number two spot last season behind Anderson. Herbstreit was a steady golfer last year and should help the team again this year.

Espinoza finished with a 60-5-1 record. A tie in his junior year was the only blemish on his final two seasons. Conard Metcalf, who did not qualify for the state meet last year, moved up to the 138 pound classification and was undefeated against Colorado High School competition. His only loss was to Ken Nakamura of the Japanese All-Stars.

B-CLUB PROMOTES SPORTSMANSHIP

"Let's see now, Dan sold forty, sixty for Paul, why only three, Ron?"

B-Club, BHS's lettermen's organization encourages all capable students to participate in athletics and to set high standards of sportsmanship and scholarship. With profits from their annual candy sale, they sponsored a welcoming party for the visiting Japanese wrestling team, and presented to the athletic team a camera, a transistor intercom and a pitching machine. The year's activities also included a dinner dance on January 10, an informal spring party and the final banquet recognizing all lettermen. This year the club also helped the Boulder Panther club sell decals.

BOULDER HIGH HOSTS JAPANESE WRESTLERS

Japan's High School wrestling team toured Colorado and engaged in grappling matches with high school teams. During January the team stayed in Boulder for four days, living in homes of Boulder wrestlers. Maintaining an undefeated record, with only one tie to Grand Junction, the Japanese team defeated the Boulder High team January 18 at the Colorado University field house.

MINNIE AND JAKE

Wisdom of mind, strength of body . . . these are the goals of education at BHS. Students are traditionally reminded of these, their goals, by the two statues over the front entrance of BHS. — Minnie, symbolizing wisdom, and Jake, symbolizing strength.

MINNIE AND JAKE REIGN

New teachers and students bow to Minnie and Jake in the traditional initiation ceremonies.

September 8th was an eventful day for B.H.S. students as they returned to pay homage to Minnie and Jake, the two statues on the front of Boulder High School, which symbolize wisdom and strength.

Seniors reveled in their new glory as prominent leaders of the school, Juniors as experienced members of the student body, and Sophomores as newly established high schoolers, glimpsed a preview of the year ahead of them.
